

Short Biography (as of 1st October, 2018)

Issei Fujishiro was born in Tokyo in 1960. He received his B. E. and M. E. in information sciences and electronics in 1983 and 1985 both from University of Tsukuba and his Doctor of Science in information sciences from the University of Tokyo in 1988. Fujishiro started his career as a Research Associate at the University of Tokyo in 1985, and then worked as a faculty member for University of Tsukuba, Ochanomizu University, and Tohoku University, before joining Keio University in 2009, where he is currently a Professor at Department of Information and Computer Science, Faculty of Science and Technology and Chief Professor at Center for Information and Computer Science, Graduate School of Science and Technology, both in Yokohama. He was elected as an honorary alumnus from Keio University in 2015. He stayed as a Visiting Professor of Computer Science at the State University of New York, Stony Brook, NY, USA during 1994 to 1995. His research interests include modeling paradigms and shape representations, applied visualization design and lifecycle management, and smart ambient media with multi-modal displays. He authored 278 academic papers and 88 survey articles and authored/edited 39 books/proceedings related to these research topics [Google Scholar Citation: 1,988, h-index: 23, i10-index: 40]. He received 37 international/domestic awards, including the 16th CG Japan Award in 2017 from Society for Art and Science (SAS) and the Most Cited Paper Award for the Journal Graphical Models 2004-2006 from Elsevier Science. He served as President of Institute of Image Electronics Engineers of Japan (IEEEJ, 2016-2017) and a Vice President for SAS (2005-2007). He has served on the editorial boards for academic journals, including IEEE Transactions on Visualization and Computer Graphics (1999-2003, 2018 to present) and Elsevier Computers & Graphics (2003-2013) and Journal of Visual Informatics (JVI; 2016 to present). He guest-edited 10 special issues of academic journals, including IEEE Computer Graphics and Applications (Vol. 35, No. 6, 2015 and Vol. 28, No. 5, 2008). He has been served on the steering committee for IEEE SciVis since 2015 and IEEE PacificVis since 2008. He served as a Program Chair/Co-Chair for Volume Graphics 2003/2005, IEEE PacificVis 2008, ACM VRCAI 2014, IEEE VIS 2018 (SciVis), Cyberworlds 2019; chaired 24 international conferences, including IEEE SMI 2006, Cyberworlds 2013, IEEE PacificVis 2014, ACM VRCAI 2015, SAS NICOGRAPH International 2016, TopoInVis 2017, CG International 2017, and PacificVAST 2018; and served on executive/organizing/program committees for 144 international conferences. Fujishiro is currently a member of Science Council of Japan, a Board Director for the Japan Federation of Engineering Societies and International Information Science Foundation, and a Trustee for SAS and CG-ARTS. He is an honorary member and fellow of IEEEJ and a member for IEEE (Computer Society/VGTC), ACM (SIGGRAPH), Eurographics, CGS, IPSJ (CGVI), IEICE, JSCES, VRSJ, and ITE. More information is available from <http://fj.ics.keio.ac.jp/>.

